

Treatment and Care of Cancer Patients: Focusing on Lymphoma, Colorectal, and Pancreatic Cancers, and Bone Metastasis

Satellite Conference and Live Webcast Friday, May 10, 2013, 8:30-10:30 a.m. (Central Time)

9:30-11:30 a.m. (Eastern) ■ 7:30-9:30 a.m. (Mountain) ■ 6:30-8:30 a.m. (Pacific)

Faculty:

Emily K. Pauli, BS, BMS, RPh, PharmD
Director of Research
Clearview Cancer Institute
Huntsville, Alabama

Program Objectives:

1. Recognize two types of cancer.
2. Identify at least two primary challenges to patient care.
3. Identify at least three treatment options and the importance of supportive care.
4. Compare and contrast two different modalities for each stage of one type of cancer.
5. Recognize at least three drugs available for supportive care.

Advances in medical treatments, technologies, and services are now allowing more people than ever to receive treatment for diseases like cancer and recover comfortably at home instead of in a care facility or hospital. Those who receive care at home will have a wide variety of needs, ranging from help with basic daily activities, to much more extensive care. Understanding a patient's diagnosis will go a long way in providing proper care. Program faculty will discuss several different kinds of cancer, their treatments, and some of the biggest challenges they create in providing quality patient care at home.
