

Ethics in a Post-COVID World: New Challenges and Familiar Solutions Part 2

Satellite Conference and Live Webcast

Thursday, June 16, 2022; 9:00-10:30 a.m. (Central Time)
10:00-11:30 a.m. (Eastern) ■ 8:00-9:30 a.m. (Mountain) ■ 7:00-8:30 a.m. (Pacific)

This program invites health care workers to explore the use of texts and messaging in clinical practice. In addition healthcare providers will discuss the reactions individuals have making choices about COVID prevention and guidelines including judgment, fear, anger, and disengagement.

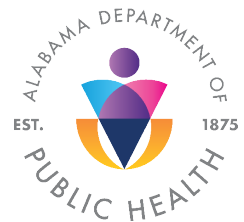

Faculty:

James L. Sacco, MSW
Consultant

Jim Sacco, M.S.W., L.C.S.W. is a consultant and trainer based in Asheville, North Carolina. He has more than 20 years collaboration with ADPH on a wide range of HIV, women's health, and chronic disease prevention strategies. His former clients include the World Health Organization, the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, Duke University, Emory University, and state and local health departments across the Southeast. Jim has trained more than 50,000 health care workers since 1986.

Program Objectives:

1. List at least three social work ethical standards related to use of social media and online platforms.
2. Name three common countertransference reactions to individuals making choices about COVID prevention and guidelines for managing reactions.
