Effects of SECONDHAND SMOKE

Being around secondhand smoke is harmful. It affects children, adults, and a mother's unborn child.

- Pregnant mothers who breathe in secondhand smoke are more likely to give birth to a low birthweight baby.
- Children who breathe in secondhand smoke are more likely to suffer from bronchitis, severe asthma, ear infections, pneumonia, and slow lung growth.
- An infant exposed to secondhand smoke is more likely to die of Sudden Infant Death Syndrome (SIDS).

*It's NEVER TOO LATE to QUIT smoking
for you and your baby.*

Smoking and YOUR PREGNANCY

Smoking is very harmful to all women, but especially women who are pregnant. Smoking causes lung cancer, breast cancer, other cancers, and emphysema. Pregnant women who smoke are more likely to have:

- miscarriages
- stillbirths
- premature babies
- babies with slow physical growth and mental development
- low birthweight babies

Smoking and MOTHERHOOD

Create a healthier home for you and your baby. If you quit smoking, you and your baby can enjoy these benefits:

- healthier breast milk
- less chance of your child having allergies
- fewer coughs and colds for you and your baby
- less risk of Sudden Infant Death Syndrome (SIDS)
- less risk of your child having severe asthma, ear and acute respiratory infections
- a better chance of enjoying a long and healthy life together
