In the course of normal operations, all health care clinics accumulate pharmaceuticals that, for various reasons, they will not use. The health care industry has developed a management process for returning some of these pharmaceuticals to specialized brokers for management – which includes a monetary credit.

This process is known as reverse distribution.

Effective January 1, 2015, the reverse distributor for ADPH will be EXP Pharmaceuticals Corporation.

This in-service program is specifically targeted to the ADPH workforce who participates in the process of returning pharmaceutical supplies.
