

The Impact of Social and Health Disparities in Minority Women

SATELLITE CONFERENCE AND LIVE WEBCAST

Thursday, May 13, 2010 2:00-4:00 p.m. (Central Time)

3:00-5:00 p.m. (Eastern) • 1:00-3:00 p.m. (Mountain) • 12:00-2:00 p.m. (Pacific)

May 9-15, 2010 is nationally recognized as Women's Health Week. This initiative encourages women to take simple steps for a longer, healthier, and happier life. During this program faculty will help with that first step by providing information on eating disorders, sexually transmitted diseases, substance abuse, and mental health issues. Join us and help educate women on how to lead and promote a healthier and better life.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVES

1. Learn general information about social and health disparities impacting women in Alabama.
2. Discuss community education and outreach initiatives throughout the state.
3. Recognize the signs, symptoms, and treatments for different types of eating disorders.
4. Learn about the different types of mental illness and available treatment options in Alabama.
5. Receive an overview about different sexually transmitted diseases affecting minority women, risk behaviors, community outreach, and prevention education initiatives.
6. Understand the signs and symptoms of substance abuse and the treatments addressing chemical addiction.
