ALABAMA PUBLIC HEALTH

WOW HEALTH

SPEAKERS BUREAU

WHAT IS THE SPEAKERS BUREAU

The Women on Wellness (WOW) Speakers Bureau was developed by the Alabama Department of Public Health Office of Women's Health Steering Committee to promote the health of women throughout the state by facilitating and coordinating evidence-based information and education about women's health. The WOW Speakers Bureau features great public communicators who are experts in women's health, and focus on specific issues affecting women's health throughout the lifespan. WOW speakers are physicians, nurses, dietitians, pharmacists, social workers, community health advocates and other healthcare providers who are qualified expert speakers available for any audience interested in learning more about specific women's health issues.

The WOW Speakers Bureau members volunteer their time to offer presentations on various women's health topics with civic organizations, churches, businesses and community groups across the state of Alabama. Although there is no cost for this service, speaker assignment is subject to the availability of WOW members. The purpose of the WOW Speakers Bureau is to empower every woman in Alabama to engage in healthy living and improve the overall health status of women in our state. Please provide as much detail as possible and 30 days' notice so the committee can best respond to the request and prepare for the event.
